

Snow White and the frog prince

“Ma ha ha ha!” As the evil stepmother cackled because she had come up with a horrible evil plot to kill Snow White.

A beautiful girl called Snow White was adopted to an evil stepmother. After both her parents had died. It all started when her evil wicked stepmother was speaking to her shiny mystical mirror with golden covered sides. The evil stepmother's mirror chanted out the answer to her questions. The one that made her so cranky was “who is the prettiest in the land?”. “Snow White!” the mirror chanted.

Tip toe tip toe. Snow White crept back into her room made of concrete. Eekk a ginormous huntsman grabbed her. She did not understand. Why am I getting kidnapped? The Huntsman took her into a dark and gloomy wood. He threw her to the floor into a wet mud puddle.

Plop plop! What was that? Snow White went to take a closer look. She sat by a pond quietly. Squeak! Is that a frog that can talk?

“ I’m the frog prince. Please kiss me. I can take you back home if you kiss me”. Trip. Yuk. She fell onto the frog prince and kissed him! He rode her back home. “ I’m safe” she cried.

It doesn't matter how you look. It matters if you have friends.
